PORTRAITS A LA VENUS.

How Boston Beauties Bare Themselves Before a Camera Operated by a Woman.

"It is quite the thing now in Boston," said a well-known photographer, "for society belles to visit a charming little studio on Beacon street, well located for the purpose, having a side entrance away from the frequented street. Elegant furniture is provided, costly carpets cover the floor, rare paintings adorn the walls, and marble statuettes of the female form divine ornament the atelier and give tone to the surroundings. The idea of the proprietor of this studio was to open a gallery exclusively for ladies, and cater to the natural vanities of the sex. No gentlemen are admitted, and she and a lady assistant run the place, where society belles can be photographed as one's fancy dictates."

"No doubt some very charming pictures are taken," the reporter ventured to hint.

"Yes, especially those of young ladies who think their personal charms rival those of Venus. It is astonishing how far young ladies considered modest will go to satisfy their vanity. The beautiful daughter of a millionaire banker called at the studio in her carriage last week and had 'photos' taken of herself which I am sure she would not like to have her parents see. She was a little timid at first, but finding only ladies present, expressed the desire to have her face and bust taken in statuette style. The rich silk basque was taken off, the other clothing thrown aside, and she stood a little shame-faced before the camera. She was given an artistic position, and a charming picture was the result. She was extremely pleased and is now a regular customer."

"Do they ever go further than that?"

"Quite often. There is one sweetly-shaped maiden of good family, who is almost a monomaniac on the subject of her form, and she has good reason to be proud of her charms, for a more beautifully-formed woman would be hard to find. Her arms are finely-molded, the snow-white breast is perfect in contour, the waist charming in outline, and the limbs as symmetrical and full as Dame Nature could make them. Here is a form for poets, painters and sculptors to go wild over. She delights in full-length 'photos,' and is not at all chary of assuming the delightful, airy costumes which it is said Mother Eve was accustomed to in the Garden of Eden. She is perfect in posing, having made that art a study, and can assume the most artistic attitudes. Her favorite presentation is that of the Greek Slave, and she has dozens of pictures taken in that graceful position in her private album. Another is that of the birth of Venus, and I think it is the best, her voluptuous charms showing to great advantage. There are many other ways in which she is pictured—in fact, whenever she thinks of a new subject for representation, she immediately has a picture taken."—Boston Journal.

THE JURY SYSTEM.

The jury in the Coombs murder case at Carson have made a record, and given our "jury system" another black eye. On the first ballot taken six of them voted "guilty" and the remaining six "not guilty." The second ballot four of them voted "manslaughter," three "assault and battery" and five "not guilty." The third ballot stood as follows: "Assault and battery," nine; "murder in the second degree," three. The fifth and last ballot three stood for "murder in the second degree," three for "manslaughter," five for "assault and battery," and one was asleep. They asked, Saturday, to be discharged, and no wonder, for if they had taken another ballot it would probably have resulted in a verdict of "justifiable homicide," or perhaps they would have come to the conclusion that Ross committed suicide. A crime was certainly committed, and Coombs is either guilty of murder in the first degree, or second degree, manslaughter, or else he is innocent and should be discharged. Ross was killed while unarmed, by a big bully, too drunk to know what he was doing and too big a coward to keep from shooting if he had known. A jury of men who had not read the newspaper accounts of the murder, committed in a town with less than 4,000 inhabitants, where everyone knows his neighbor, and his neighbor's neighbor, were selected to try him and find a verdict in accordance with the testimony adduced. The conclusion is that five, at least, of the 12 showed by their verdict, that a man must be an empty-headed numbskull, devoid of the intelligence to understand the meaning of an oath, and not competent to sit on a jury where property to the value of a nickel is in controversy or the life of a wharf rat in jeopardy. The sooner our so-called jury system is changed the better it will be.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

The First Installment of Evicted Irishmen.
 Boston, April 15.
 The steamer Nestorian arrived last night with 65 passengers, most of them impoverished Irish people sent over at the expense of the English Government, the greater part of them having families, some of which number eight or 10 persons, while the average is about five. The majority are from Galway; others are from Mayo, Derry and Donegal. The most of them are from Galway, and were evicted, and during the past winter have lived as best they could, finding shelter in tents. Indian meal porridge was their principal article of food. The agent of the Government furnished money to those who desired to go to a place beyond Boston, the amount depending on the size of the family. Some received a few shillings; others two, three, five or six pounds. A great many of the men are farmers, but they seem undecided what they will do here. Some are going to New York, others to Pittsburgh, Portland, Chicago and Canada, while some will remain in Boston and vicinity. Several paid their own passage, but brought little with them in the way of money or household goods. The steamship Parthia, from Liverpool, arrived this morning and brought a large number of the same class of emigrants.
 PHILADELPHIA, April 15.
 Sixty-nine evicted farmers from Mayo and Galway arrived in the steamer Indiana. Rev. Bernard S. Kelly of Galway was also a passenger. He has been sent to this country by the Bishop of Tuam to raise money for the relief of the distressed of his flock.
Murder and Suicide.
 CHICAGO, April 15.
 This afternoon Roman Nowak went to the house of his divorced wife for the purpose of getting possession of one of the children, a boy of 4 years. She refused him admission, and he drew a revolver and fired through a window at which she was sitting, shooting her in the head—the ball lodging in her brain. He then turned the pistol on himself and blew out his brains, falling dead on the steps. A letter in his pocket giving directions to the Knights of Honor to use the insurance on his life for the education of his children, evidently shows that the deed was premeditated. The woman cannot live through the night.
An Immense Cattle Shipment.
 FORT WORTH, Texas, April 16.
 A contract is closed here for the shipment of 75,000 head of cattle from the grazing region south of this city, on the Colorado & Santa Fe Railroad to Wincheta Falls, 114 miles north. It will require 3,000 cars, or 215 trains of 14 cars each, at a total expense of $105,000. The shipment is rendered necessary by a large amount of fencing recently put up in the southern part of the State.
In Memory of a Dear Old Man.
 SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 16.
 Memorial services on the 18th anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln were held at the catacomb of the National Lincoln Monument yesterday under the auspices of the Lincoln Guard of Honor. The programme embraced religious exercises and music, and the reading of President Lincoln's Sunday order to the army and navy, and an oration.
Dead in a Well.
 DUBUQUE, Ia., April 15.
 This afternoon the bodies of Mrs. H. Zieprecht, wife of a well known druggist of this place, and a 3-year-old boy, were found at the bottom of a 50-foot well. They were alone in the house during the forenoon. It is supposed the woman threw the child into the well and jumped in herself, as a high curb around it forbids the supposition of falling in accidentally.
Slaughter Houses in the Yellowstone Country.
 ST. PAUL, April 16.
 Officials of the Northern Pacific are responsible for the statement that large slaughter houses will be established at various points in the Yellowstone country along the line of the road, with a view to shipping dressed beef to the East, and that by this means a great saving will be made in contract shipments of stock.
Red Hot From Texas.
 NEW YORK, April 16.
 A dispatch from Williams' ranch (Texas) states that an immense meteor fell yesterday, destroying the house of Garcia, killing him, his wife and five children. Every window in the town was shattered, and all the houses shaken. The meteor is still steaming and covers an acre of ground.
Dissatisfied Knights.
 CHICAGO, April 15.
 It is reported that there is trouble in Apollo Commandery of Knights Templar in this city over the recent vote not to attend the Conclave at San Francisco, but to visit Europe. Eminent Commander Norman T. Gassette is credited with being the cause of a great deal of this dissatisfaction. It is admitted that the financial affairs of the Apollo have greatly improved under the management of Gassette, and that previous to his accession as chief officer the Commandery was in debt.

 CHICAGO, April 16.
 As stated in these dispatches last night, there is a tempest in Apollo Commandery and considerable ill-feeling. A prominent member said to-day that Apollo Commandery would not go to Europe. "It is simply a scheme to let it down easily. It decided to go to California, you know, but got the cold shoulder so effectually that it was compelled to reconsider the matter. Its pride was hurt. As for a European trip I don't think a dozen could be drummed up to go in any event, and it is extremely doubtful if permission can be obtained to leave the United States."
 "What do you think of the proposed European trip?" inquired a reporter.
 "I don't think much of it."
 "Do you think the Commandery will go?"
 "No; there is no danger whatever of their going as a Commandery. Two or three may go as individuals."

 DUBLIN, April 15.
 The mother of Peter Tynan, "Number One," says she believes her son was the superior officer of the Invincibles. Although a true bill was returned against 11 of the prisoners charged with the Phoenix Park murders, it is believed that only seven will be tried on a capital charge. It is stated that Delaney and McCafferty will plead guilty. Peter Carey will depose that he was sworn in as an Invincible by his brother.

Picnic Perils.
 SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.
 The 19-year-old son of officer McGreevy of this city was shot yesterday near San Rafael by ex-Deputy Sheriff Valencia of Marin county. Young McGreevy was at a picnic at Fairfax, and took two girls out riding in Valencia's buggy without the latter's knowledge or permission. Valencia pursued and overtook the three. Some words ensued, when Valencia drew a pistol and shot the young man in the eye. The wound is considered necessarily fatal. Valencia surrendered himself to the officers.

LOG ROLLING.
While Wrestling With a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.
 While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbon-dale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and flocks of rats had bore away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unbridled labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for his work and attacking a tree as a knight, must have presented an admirable picture.
 One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:
 "I was out in the woods, you know, trying to start a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tucked it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which raised her up, she'd have crushed me flat. As it was, I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."
 "Then you were all right," said his auditor.
 "Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPSICINE POROUS PLASTER and used 'em, it's my opinion I should never have made another chip fly. But the Capsicine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin knuckle on to: I shall never wrestle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. For, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them bushes I'd a been smashed so you couldn't a sold me for a door mat."
 The Capsicine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPSICINE is cut in the center of the genuine. Price 25 cents.

Tom Hymers makes it a point to entertain every visitor from the northern country and is as popular in that fertile region as here at home. Tom understands the secret of making business, and is worth a regiment of sleepy people to make a town prosperous.

Late Train.

The passenger train from the east due here at 8:30 this evening is 12 hours late. The cause of the delay is a snowstorm on the U. P. A special will be made up here and leave for San Francisco on the regular train's time.

Hay in Sierra Valley.

The outlook is, notwithstanding the immense hay crop of last season, very little will remain in Sierra Valley by the time the new crop is in the market.

FRIGHTFUL VENGEANCE.

An Indian's Head Cut Off and His Body Burned.

For some years there has been an Indian called Tybo Frank ranging about the country between Morey and Antelope Valley, and he has occasionally made a trip to Eureka, says the Sentinel. He was looked upon as a terror among his people, and the other Indians were afraid of him. About three years ago he killed an Indian down at Morey. The other Indians pursued and brought him to bay, but he stood them off. He had succeeded in making them believe that he was a supernatural being, and that a bullet could not enter his flesh.

Recently he caused a good deal of trouble by stealing from the whites. On one occasion he had stolen a horse from J. C. Butler of Antelope valley, and was driving it away. Mr. Butler went after him to recover his property, and was confronted by Frank, who presented a pistol to his forehead. Mr. Butler returned home and armed himself, but had to beat the horse-thief nearly to death before he could get his horse back. The Indians being greatly annoyed by such acts as these on the part of Tybo Frank, for which they were often blamed, and because also they lived in mortal dread of him themselves, determined to get rid of him. They held a council on Ruby Hill, about three weeks ago, to devise means to accomplish his death.

The council selected four of their cunningest braves, who were sworn to hunt him down and take his life. These four started out on their mission in a spring wagon, one of the number being "Wagon Charley," and about two weeks ago came upon their man in the neighborhood of Butler's ranch, 12 or 15 miles from Eureka, at the head of Antelope valley. They proposed to take a hunting trip into the mountains, and invited Frank to go with them. He suspected nothing, and fell right into the trap. After hunting all day the party of five built a camp fire and were making preparations to broil their game, when one of the avengers grabbed Frank by the hair as he sat near the fire, and pulled him over on his back.

The others, who were waiting for the signal, jumped onto him, and while three of them held him fast, the fourth man with a hunting knife, severed his head completely from his body. They had not undertaken to shoot him, being still under the superstitious spell that he could not be killed that way.

After they had thus murdered their victim they built a big fire of logs, and putting the headless trunk and head thereon, watched about the fire with grim satisfaction until they had been entirely consumed. After this act of bloody and cowardly assassination, the four avengers came down to Joe Allison's ranch, where they met a party of Indians of their own tribe, and with considerable ceremony went through the process of washing the murdered man's blood from their hands. Frank's father and squaw were in the neighborhood when he was killed. The former seemed unmoved by the tragedy. The latter shed a few tears, but within 24 hours has ceased to evince any signs of grief whatever.

DECORATION DAY.

Arrangements for Decorating the Graves of the "Blue and the Gray."

Rev. Mr. Hatch has suggested that the Reno people make a move soon towards making arrangements to properly observe Decoration Day. He suggests that a programme be arranged similar to that of last year, to take place at the cemetery, and that in addition, a place be provided for something in the evening. He thinks an oration at the theater, with music and public speaking, would be very appropriate and interesting. The Gazette would like to see the day duly observed, and if the citizens will take the matter in hand the honored sons of the "blue and the gray" will be kindly remembered. The Reno Guard will add much to make the ceremony what it should be and will no doubt do all they can. Let steps be taken soon.

TRUCKEE ITEMS.

Scraps of Interest From a Lively Camp.

The following items are clipped from the Republican of April 14th: The recent snow storm has caused mill men to look depressed.

The last storm piled up considerable snow between Sierra Valley and Downville. A road was broken between the two places a few days ago.

The Truckee Lumber Company expect to make a drive of several million feet next week. They will start their saw mill as soon as the drive is in.

The Board of Supervisors have passed an ordinance ordering an election on April 24th, 1883, to decide on the issuance of county bonds for $50,000, and a tax levy to pay interest on the same.

A Good Opportunity.

Charley Jones has been instructed to sell the furniture and bar fixtures of the Arcade Hotel cheap for cash. There are two fine billiard tables one 15-ball pool table, one Hall safe (new), chairs, stores, etc. This is a splendid opportunity for saloon men to fit up a nice place. Read notice in another column.

SUBJECT OF IRRIGATION.

What Could be Done in this Matter With Capital.

The attention of capitalists is hereby called to some good investments for their surplus wealth in Sierra Valley. There is at least 100,000 acres of land in the valley, says the Leader, susceptible of producing the finest crops of hay and grain if a little more moisture could be had during a short portion of the year. Most of this land would produce an occasional crop during favorable years, but the uncertainty of it has deterred people from cultivating it.

A very little water at the right time would insure a full crop every season, as the quality of the soil cannot be excelled. There is enough water annually going to waste in the Spring to irrigate the whole valley twice over, if it could only be retained in reservoirs until two months later in the season. There are at least a dozen streams pouring their waters into the valley from the surrounding hills, and scarcely one, which somewhere in its course in the mountains, could not be dammed and a little lake formed, whose waters could be held to be utilized in June.

In Croycroft Neck a dam could be constructed to hold in reserve enough water to irrigate at least 40,000 acres of land. This would reclaim all of the waste land on the west side of the valley, down as far as Beckworth. Then in Last Chance a reservoir could be had to irrigate all of the land from the Summit to Beckworth. The Little Truckee irrigating canal could be extended so that water could be carried nearly to the Summit. Thus we see that by these three schemes alone the whole valley could be watered, and scarcely an acre but what would produce its bushels of grain or tons of hay.

There is not a rancher in the valley who would not give a dollar an acre to have his waste land irrigated. Here is a fortune for capitalists who are seeking a safe investment for their money. Land can be acquired under the desert land act, which capital can secure for a song. Then they can conduct water upon it, making it productive; divide it into small tracts and sell it to those in search of homes. The land would be quadrupled in value, and the profits to be realized from the investment would be enormous.

TO THE NORTH.

A Word to Travelers Hunting a Home—A Natural Route to Oregon.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Reno & Fort Bidwell Stage Line, Egan & Co., proprietors. Since the firm assumed control of the line many new arrangements have been made. The company's coaches connect at Cedarville with stages for Alturas, and at Alturas with stages for Lakeview, Oregon, in fact they connect with lines running to every point in that thrifty State. They are paying particular attention to express packages, and have increased that branch of the service considerably since they started. Emigrants coming from the East would find it cheaper, quicker and better in every way if they would stop over here and take Egan & Co.'s coach and go across the country. It is only about 500 miles and gives people looking for homes an opportunity to see the best country under the sun. Travelers from the East en route to Oregon and Washington generally go through to San Francisco, thence by steamer to Washington, via Portland and The Dalles, where if they went direct north from Reno the journey would be through a continuous line of beautiful valleys, over a magnificent road, giving them a much better opportunity of judging the resources of the country than a trip by water. When they go by Portland they travel nearly 1,500 miles to reach a point that a journey of 500 over Egan & Co.'s line would take them to. It is a saving of time and money to go over the new and natural route. T. K. Hymers is the Reno agent for the company and can give any information desired.

A Valuable Invention.

Hon. G. F. Harris, Superior Judge of Modoc county, is recognized as being an expert mineralogist. For some time past he has been employing his leisure moments in experiments in perfecting a method of extracting precious metals by a process of electricity. The invention is entirely new and has been patented. Mr. Spencer of Susanville, who has fully inspected the process, pronounces it a most valuable discovery. He says the patent is worth many thousands of dollars to the inventor.

A Hint to Potato Growers.

A California potato raiser says: To every hill of potatoes, cut in quarters or halves, he puts a quart of sawdust. The crop is doubled and the tubers are larger and smoother. Besides, not a single tuber is unsound. Straw or shavings may perhaps do as well as sawdust. Truckee could ship thousands of tons of sawdust to the potato growing regions of California, and thereby save a destruction of fish in the river of its name. Fish saved and potatoes grown would be a big thing for the State.

THE BANK CASES.

How They Were Disposed of in the District Court Last Saturday.

James H. Kinkead and L. L. Crockett were arraigned in the District Court on Saturday at 10 o'clock A. M. The defendants through counsel asked until 2 P. M. to determine upon their course respecting the indictment. At that hour the defendants appeared, and General Clarke of counsel said: "We are satisfied that the indictment is defective in a certain particular, which we made the basis of objection in the case of the former indictment. That is to say, that these defendants are not among that class of persons which under the law can commit the crime here charged. We are satisfied, however, that this objection can as well be taken by way of a motion in arrest of judgment; hence we have decided not to interpose any demurrer to the indictment, but to plead not guilty. The defendants then personally answered and the plea was formally entered. Defendants' counsel represented the necessity for an immediate trial, and requested that it be set for April 24th. District Attorney Alexander thought the time too short in which to prepare a case of such importance, but in default of any more special reason the request was granted and the trial set for the 24th of April. Judge Boardman announced that he would determine upon the proper steps to secure the attendance of additional jurors, and the defendants withdrew with bail as formerly.

A SUPPOSED LEPER.

A Chinaman With One Half of His Face Eaten Off.

Sometime since a Chinaman afflicted with leprosy was driven from Lakeview, says the Alturas Independent, and it was stated that he went in the direction of Cedarville. Since that time nothing definite has been heard of him. On Tuesday last some boys playing in the vicinity of a vacant house on N. B. Rine's ranch, about a mile east of Alturas, heard a noise in the house and investigated, and there found a Chinaman, who was evidently suffering from some terrible disease. The boys stated that his face presented a horrible appearance, one side being literally eaten off. The matter was reported to the citizens, and Wong Wing, the boss of the Celestials at the town, went out to investigate. He reported that it was not the supposed leper, but that it was a Chinaman that had been poisoned by his countrymen. The people, however, believe that it was the identical leper that left Lakeview, and that not daring to venture into town he sought any shelter that he could find.
